- ❖ Approximately 60% of the Immune System surrounds the intestinal tract. Life-supporting flora strengthen the ability of immune cells in GI mucosa to defend the body against toxins, bacteria & allergies
- ❖ Probiotics should always follow a course of antibiotics in order to recolonize the Gastrointestinal Tract. Antibiotics kill the BAD bacteria as well as the GOOD flora (probiotics).
- ❖ Life-supporting flora keep yeast & candida growth under control
- ❖ The presence of "life-supporting flora" in mucous membranes of the intestinal tract leaves no room for parasites or other undesirable organisms to attach
- ❖ Adding probiotics to infant formula decreases incidences of diarrhea & diaper rash
- ❖ Babies born by C-section have sterile GI tracts that need to be colonized with healthy micro flora
- ❖ The balance of organisms in the Gastrointestinal Tract impacts all functions of the body, including vitamin production, digestion & absorption of nutrients, hormonal activities, immunity and detoxification.
